

JS Saltwater: Gaya do you know if this is the spot for Ways of Knowing?

Gaya Ethaniel: Yes, welcome :)

JS Saltwater: ok cool ty

Fizakaal Wei: so i will stay as long as i can

JS Saltwater: we have not been here before, Gaya, should we just have a seat?

Gaya Ethaniel: Please, let me get you a link to our wiki.

Fizakaal Wei: thank you

Gaya Ethaniel: <http://waysofknowing.kira.org/>

Gaya Ethaniel: Hope you are ok with us posting chat logs.

Fizakaal Wei: is this in voice?

Gaya Ethaniel: No this will be in text.

Fizakaal Wei: ok

Gaya Ethaniel: There is a description of today's topic on the home page and links to reports written by regular participants.

JS Saltwater: the link to the wiki from this page is broken, fwiw <http://mambo.playasbeing.org/index.p...108&Itemid=138>

Gaya Ethaniel: Hello Cal :)

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Evening all

Calvino Rabeni: Hi, Gaya :)

Mickorod Renard: hellooo

Gaya Ethaniel: Our wiki is here - <http://waysofknowing.kira.org/>

boxy (alfred.kelberry): peeks into the window

Gaya Ethaniel: Hello Agatha, Alfred, Liza and Mick :)

Liza Deischer: hi everyone

Mickorod Renard: :)

Gaya Ethaniel: Hello Mitsu :)

Liza Deischer: I can sit today :)

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Mick! :)

boxy (alfred.kelberry): aga girl :)

Mickorod Renard: yea

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Boxy!

Mitsu Ishii: hello all

Calvino Rabeni: Well what a surprise to see you here Liza :)

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Hi Mitsu

boxy (alfred.kelberry): hi :)

Liza Deischer: YEEEEAAH!!!

Liza Deischer: I feel to lazy to change into avy today :)

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Leave him in Legoland

boxy (alfred.kelberry): javascript saltwater? :)

Liza Deischer: sorry, I guess a gesture..... :)

JS Saltwater: haha Al :)

JS Saltwater: first time for that one :)

Liza Deischer: Oh I like Avy..... :)

boxy (alfred.kelberry): nice hat, cal

boxy (alfred.kelberry): very capone

Calvino Rabeni: I like Liza's hat too
boxy (alfred.kelberry): bunny :)
Liza Deischer: ah Cal, your's is more dangerous :)
Gaya Ethaniel: :)
Gaya Ethaniel: Hello Atari :)
Violet (ataraxia.azemus): Hi everyone :)
Liza Deischer: hi Atara
boxy (alfred.kelberry): atari is a nice nick Aggers (agatha.macbeth): HI Atari :)
Violet (ataraxia.azemus): :)
Mickorod Renard: hi everyone i havnt said hi to JS Saltwater: Hello everyone, I'm new here so will be mostly lurking boxy (alfred.kelberry): no pila today?
Gaya Ethaniel: brb
Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Well he was looking for the music session yesterday, dunno if he found it
Liza Deischer: hi JS :) Violet (ataraxia.azemus): Hi Eliza :)
boxy (alfred.kelberry): nope, never seen him
boxy (alfred.kelberry): eliza :)
Liza Deischer: hi Eliza
Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Lizzie :)))
Eliza Madrigal: Hi Everyone! :))
Mickorod Renard: Hi eliza
boxy (alfred.kelberry): meep!
Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Meep Meep ;P :p:P :p :P
Eliza Madrigal: :)
boxy (alfred.kelberry): :)
JS Saltwater: /me looks for coyote avi
Violet (ataraxia.azemus): hehe
Aggers (agatha.macbeth): /me pats Boxy's head
boxy (alfred.kelberry): :)
Calvino Rabeni: I would like to confess ... the topic for today is Conscience, and I did not write any homework for it, and I felt that was "Wrong" but, ... did it anyway now feel a sense of remorse . :)
Aggers (agatha.macbeth): You have a conscience then Cal :p
Fizakaal Wei: no judgements, Calvino :)
Mickorod Renard: I am sure we can just follow threads
Gaya Ethaniel: [back & reading]
Gaya Ethaniel: heheh Cal
Mickorod Renard: my conscience seems such a burden sometimes, it holds me back so much from being ruthless
Gaya Ethaniel: ?
boxy (alfred.kelberry): mick, like going to a nude beach? :)
JS Saltwater: no that's clotheslessness
Mickorod Renard: well, not so much that, that is my lack of confidence
Mickorod Renard: well, lack of something

Gaya Ethaniel: Well give us an example of being ruthless Mick?

Liza Deischer: hmmm, what is conscience

Mickorod Renard: well, maybe strong words, but I was relating to how I feel I could have been more successful had I been less prone to conscience

JS Saltwater: (should I register on the forum site and be reading the posts there in order to participate here now?]

Calvino Rabeni: No rule, JS, but it would help

Violet (ataraxia.azemus): Hi Fox

JS Saltwater: k thx

Gaya Ethaniel: Sorry to ask another question ... what kind of success do you mean Mick?

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Foxy :)

Gaya Ethaniel: Hello Fox :)

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Now we have Boxy and Foxy

Fox Monacular: Hi everyone:)

Violet (ataraxia.azemus): heheh

Liza Deischer: hi Fox

boxy (alfred.kelberry): mick, regret?

Mickorod Renard: There is a trend in that to be more successful say at work, one could be more selfish and not consider others

Liza Deischer: is that consciousness

Eliza Madrigal: Hi Fox :)

Fox Monacular: :) Eliza

Mickorod Renard: HI Fox

Eliza Madrigal: Seems a false premise Mick... or maybe it depends on what success would be

Mickorod Renard: well, i was just trying to get us started

Eliza Madrigal: :)

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Go for it Mick

Mickorod Renard: :)

Gaya Ethaniel: :)

boxy (alfred.kelberry): eliza, i think it's related

Eliza Madrigal: yes?

Fizakaal Wei: to me conciousness is having the ability to ask yourself if you have consciousness

Mickorod Renard: well, wanting to do the right thing instead of just playing statistics

Mickorod Renard: I could lie and cheat and get on very well

Violet (ataraxia.azemus): I have to duck out early today...my conscience is telling me I have too much work to do :)

Mickorod Renard: :)

Violet (ataraxia.azemus): Be well, everyone :)

Gaya Ethaniel: Bye Atari :)

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Take care Atari

Eliza Madrigal: Bye Violet, nice to see you

boxy (alfred.kelberry): maybe it's a boundary of how far you can go in order to please yourself

Eliza Madrigal: Hi Aph

Gaya Ethaniel: Hello Aphrodite :)

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): And hello Aphro

Aphrodite Macbain: Hello!

Mickorod Renard: thats a good way to see it Alf

Mickorod Renard: Hi Aph

Aphrodite Macbain: Hi Mck

Eliza Madrigal: hm, but could you really, Mick... you could ignore the feeling that 'i don't like this' for a time, but it may bite you later... or get bitten now and take some solace in that, hah

Mickorod Renard: exactly, isntnt that having a concience though..

Mickorod Renard: I am talking about something more than being found out

Mickorod Renard: its about knowing yourself

Eliza Madrigal: /me nods

JS Saltwater: makes me think of the line "Character is what you are in the dark"

Mickorod Renard: and living with that knowledge

Liza Deischer: nice line :)

boxy (alfred.kelberry): it's an application of conscience, eliza. in case of mick, he wouldn't say undermine a colleague at work to gain some career points.

JS Saltwater: Is conscience something different from the "internalized surveillance" that Foucault talks about?

Aphrodite Macbain: Does everyone agree that a conscience is something that is learned; that it's not innate?

Liza Deischer: sorry I don't know Foucault.....

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): I know his pendulum...

Aphrodite Macbain: :-)

Mickorod Renard: I was thinking it was on those lines JS

JS Saltwater: the other one

boxy (alfred.kelberry): aph, yes

JS Saltwater: Michel Foucault

Fox Monacular: there are probably elements of social/cultural control... too.. internalized surveillance and also a superego

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Sorry, didn't know there was one

JS Saltwater: on the innate question - hmm

Fox Monacular: perhaps there are layers... of internalising?

Aphrodite Macbain: yes, films, books etc reinforce those values that then effect our conscience

Fox Monacular: 'repressive hypothesis'

boxy (alfred.kelberry): there are only instincts innately

Aphrodite Macbain: along with our parents, the chิร์ch, our teachers, our friends

JS Saltwater: but maybe a mechanism for a conscience to form in is innate?

Eliza Madrigal: /me nods.. what I would tend toward Mickorod Renard: I have mused with these feelings, even questioning whether I shroud my exterior softness with names like right and having a conscience, but maybe I am too cowardly to be ruthless?

Aphrodite Macbain: our cerebral cortex/memory

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Or too nice Mick

JS Saltwater: probably just an offshoot of humans' socially constructed self, the internalised other

Aphrodite Macbain: exterior softness... nice

JS Saltwater: the "admonitory voices" Julian Jaynes talks about

Aphrodite Macbain: yes JS

Fox Monacular: internalized other... yes I was thinking something similar

JS Saltwater: (sorry, stream of conscience :-)

Gaya Ethaniel: :)

Aphrodite Macbain: haha

Fox Monacular: :)

boxy (alfred.kelberry): :)

Aphrodite Macbain: mine is a torrent

Calvino Rabeni: Reading Eliza's report I reflected on how much courage it would take to act more on conscience, .. both to protect the soft heart, and to face the conditions in the world that seem wrong.. so there seems needed both softness and the "roar of a lion"

Aphrodite Macbain: What "pricks" our conscience?

Aphrodite Macbain: how would it protect our soft heart?

Mickorod Renard: knowing something is right gives you the courage

Eliza Madrigal: well act on conscience in a way that didn't project onto others seems the tricky part

JS Saltwater: good observation Cal, conscience is (ideally) the loving force that has to act with power to have effect, perhaps?

Aphrodite Macbain: yes, one person's bad is another person's ok

JS Saltwater: yes the "knowing something is right" bit makes me nervous Mick

Calvino Rabeni: Or one person's bad is another person's bad-but-numb

Aphrodite Macbain: me too JS

Gaya Ethaniel: Say more JS?

Mickorod Renard: true, there are often two sides of a coin

JS Saltwater: many clearly wrong people have known they were right

boxy (alfred.kelberry): mick, being ruthless against your nature is not productive. eventually, it'll bring more harm and stress than regret about past soft times.

Eliza Madrigal: 'good intentions'

Aphrodite Macbain: or sometimes more sides

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Indeed Alf

Gaya Ethaniel: :)

Mickorod Renard: yes Alf

Eliza Madrigal: so 'one's own hot spot' seems key to me in considering conscience

Mickorod Renard: I am just envious of those who are able to shrug off conscience boxy (alfred.kelberry): first step would be to embrace yourself as you are :)

Liza Deischer: /me wonders if Ghadaffi has a conscience

Eliza Madrigal: :) Alf

Aphrodite Macbain: Those without a conscience would be psychotic, wouldn't JS Saltwater: Mick, rationalization and sociopathy aren't that enviable :)

Aphrodite Macbain: t they?

Mickorod Renard: I try, but it hurts

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Unlikely Liza

Gaya Ethaniel: :)

Fizakaal Wei: need to go people, thank you

Mickorod Renard: bye Fiz

Eliza Madrigal: Thanks Fiz

JS Saltwater: see ya Fiz

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): C ya Fiz

Eliza Madrigal: we say they don't have a conscience, but more likely is that it is horribly deadened, potential not cared for?

Liza Deischer: I'm not so sure, is it lack of conscious or is it about having the wrong impression.....

Aphrodite Macbain: Bye

Aphrodite Macbain: Bye! Fizakaal

Mickorod Renard: i like equanimity

Mickorod Renard: that poses questions

Aphrodite Macbain: ??

Eliza Madrigal: equanimity seemed to come up a lot for me thinking about this, too

Mickorod Renard: in relation to conscience

Aphrodite Macbain: finding a balance means being open minded to new concepts

Eliza Madrigal: /me listens, mick...

Gaya Ethaniel: Bye Fizakaal :)

boxy (alfred.kelberry): mick, think of all the wonderful things you could do in the time when you just sit and envy :)

Mickorod Renard: trying to find the right path through all these thoughts is hard

Calvino Rabeni: One thing that confuses people, is when others are acting according to a different and not well understood set of values .. their acts of conscience may be according to different rules .. not sure if it applies to dictators like Ghadaffi, but it might.

Aphrodite Macbain: maybe there isn't a "right" path

Mickorod Renard: yes Alf, I am quick to move on when I recognise the feelings

Mickorod Renard: yes Cal

Eliza Madrigal: yes I was thinking about Dao's report of jury duty... and how I can stand for hours in a cereal aisle thinking of pros and cons to each... how obvious I have to let things become before action

Aphrodite Macbain: I wonder what Ghadaffi uses to justify what he has done

Liza Deischer: the set of values detect the conscience

boxy (alfred.kelberry): mick, then i see no problem there :)

Eliza Madrigal: so hesitant to be 'sure'

Liza Deischer: oh, if you listen to his arguments..... I think he really thinks he's right

Mickorod Renard: and this too could apply to say a budhist monk who passes through life and doesnt act when seeing things that we may act from conscience?

JS Saltwater: good observation Eliza

boxy (alfred.kelberry): aph, his conscience and the sense of reality have shifted to some unknown realms

Eliza Madrigal: being authority and ruler IS all, for some of these dictators...

Aphrodite Macbain: we often make snap judgements without weighing thngs at all

JS Saltwater: it's the patriarchal imperative run amok

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): True

Aphrodite Macbain: true boxy

Eliza Madrigal: there is nothing else and anything that bumps up against it has to be supressed

Gaya Ethaniel: Well it can be a relief to just buy a bag of porridge oats :P

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): It can if you're scottish

Liza Deischer: even dictators needs justifications for their acts

Mickorod Renard: it must come down to values, and these are different to different people

Aphrodite Macbain: So. saying someone has a conscience may not indicate that his moral justifications are the same as ours

Eliza Madrigal: :) Yes... that's the thing, eventually I make myself grab something... but am I 'sure'? is it 'clear'? sooo rare

Calvino Rabeni: The people of most countries, I guess as an average, seem to want "tough" leaders.. at least a lot of them want that in a leader

Liza Deischer: maybe being conscious is linked with justification

Calvino Rabeni: and they want something different in a spiritual leader

Gaya Ethaniel: Hello Zen :)

Calvino Rabeni: than in a political executive

Mickorod Renard: Hi Zen

JS Saltwater: Dictators usually think they are the over-father and that justifies their acts, like the guy in The Shining

Eliza Madrigal: Hi Zen

Aphrodite Macbain: they want someone to think and act for them usually

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Yo Zen

boxy (alfred.kelberry): imagine a person who has been a sole ruler of the state for 30 years and never heard "no" in his life

Liza Deischer: not in Tibet Cal :)

Mickorod Renard: the uberman

Eliza Madrigal: /me nods JS...

Aphrodite Macbain: ubermensch

Zen (zen.arado): Hi all sorry for lateness

JS Saltwater: "Father Knows Best" with security prisons

boxy (alfred.kelberry): zen :)

Aphrodite Macbain: Hi Zen

Liza Deischer: hi Zen

Eliza Madrigal: well authority, in some paradigms, comes from god and that's it...

Mickorod Renard: I sometimes think about Ayn Rand..who said something about humans being split between the higher order and the ones who are like cows in the field

Aphrodite Macbain: Eliza- apparently most of our decisions are made quickly without much thought- a form of prejudice

Calvino Rabeni: When a spiritual leader .. for instance a roshi, has a sexual scandal, there is so much outrage .. it makes me think people are "outsourcing" their moral thinking to the leader, and disappointed and scared when the leader doesn't live up to the expectation, scared perhaps of their own freedom if it comes with moral responsibility

JS Saltwater: I need to run, folks, but thx for letting me crash the convo. Hope to be back for the next one.

boxy (alfred.kelberry): i'd say that gaddafi and people alike are beyond of scope of our understanding :)

Mickorod Renard: bye JS

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Bye JS

Gaya Ethaniel: Thanks for coming JS :)

Calvino Rabeni: So long, JS

Eliza Madrigal: bye JS

JS Saltwater: ty all

Aphrodite Macbain: outsourcing....hmm

Gaya Ethaniel: Still thinking about you mentioning equanimity here Mick ...

Mickorod Renard: :)

Gaya Ethaniel: Want to say a bit more?

Eliza Madrigal: agree Cal... very easy to pedestalize

Mickorod Renard: only that is a struggle for me to „whats the word,,,reconcile that

Aphrodite Macbain: pygmalion

Zen (zen.arado): setting people up to be more pure than us

Eliza Madrigal: :)

Aphrodite Macbain: we need our heros

Calvino Rabeni: It also goes to show how much ethical and moral intelligence is collective and distributed, rather than encapsulated in each individual

Mickorod Renard: reconcile equanimity with caring and so forth

Aphrodite Macbain: yes- morality is societal and cultural; not an absolute

Eliza Madrigal: a clear conscience would seem to be a calm waters one... but many have never tasted that perhaps

Mickorod Renard: the only way I can do it is to believe I am above the issues of the world

Calvino Rabeni: Religion tries to speak to aspirations as well as morality .. the Law tries to set a lower boundary on what's acceptable

Aphrodite Macbain: Ghaddafi has a clear conscience...

Liza Deischer: maybe consious kicks in when the water isn't that calm.....

Mickorod Renard: he is just tending his cattle

Aphrodite Macbain: zap!

Mickorod Renard: in his mind

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Moo

Aphrodite Macbain: the catle feel good if they obey

Calvino Rabeni: I think we refer to "conscience" as a kind of corrective signal when things are wrong -- thinking of the Lao Tzu quote in the homework report

Eliza Madrigal: mm, nods, sure

Aphrodite Macbain: /me makes a note to read again

Calvino Rabeni: but when things are smooth, it's just using a feeling sense for what's right .. these might be the same sensibilities

Zen (zen.arado): so where does it come from?

Zen (zen.arado): or did you cover that?

Aphrodite Macbain: brainwashing

Mickorod Renard: but if we were to profit greatly by turning a blind eye would our conscience be so strong?

Gaya Ethaniel: oh let me make a notecard sorry Zen ...

Aphrodite Macbain: I think not, it would still prick us

Aphrodite Macbain: Mick

Mickorod Renard: :)

Calvino Rabeni: But people like to pick their leaders / brainwashers and submit to them, seem to need it boxy (alfred.kelberry): cal, conscience is a measure of what's right

Aphrodite Macbain: It becomes a conditioned response like anything else

Aphrodite Macbain: I must go and call my mother. I haven

Mickorod Renard: you can get embedded in concience, it can be holding back

Eliza Madrigal: :) Aph

Aphrodite Macbain: nt spoken to her for a few days..

Mickorod Renard: bye Aph

boxy (alfred.kelberry): aph :)

Liza Deischer: conscience isn't leaving by making bad decisions, it seems to be the moment that it kicks in, like an extra-internal feeling that comes from or is connected to.....?

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Take care Aph, bye

Aphrodite Macbain: Bye

Aphrodite Macbain: Bye! all, thank you

Calvino Rabeni: And when things are "just right" conscience doesn't speak, only when things seem to be getting off track .. that's probably the basis of the idea of "sin"

Eliza Madrigal: 'missing the mark'

Liza Deischer: right Cal

Calvino Rabeni: so conscience steps in when there is a conflict and decisions might need to be made

Zen (zen.arado): whre does the mark come from?

Calvino Rabeni: Tao

Calvino Rabeni: :) facile answer, sure

Mickorod Renard: the problem is,,the world today is stretching the parametres of what traditionally has been right

Liza Deischer: good question Zen

Zen (zen.arado): the standard , the norm

Zen (zen.arado): ?

Calvino Rabeni: No zen

boxy (alfred.kelberry): mick, example please

Mickorod Renard: erm

Calvino Rabeni: the norm seems pretty "sinful" if you'll forgive me that term

Liza Deischer: nods at Mick

Mickorod Renard: cant think of a good example

Eliza Madrigal: I have a toothache, it is a sign that something was wrong with my tooth so I went through lots more pain to fix it... so the dull ache would go away... :) I also may be loopy and that have nothing to do with this...

Calvino Rabeni: Isn't there a common myth that all of humanity is "fallen" .. that is not really at peace with conscience?

Zen (zen.arado): you have to transgress something to feel guilty

Zen (zen.arado): original sin

Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Agreed Zen :)

Eliza Madrigal: you have to transgress an 'other' perhaps

Zen (zen.arado): we are all rotten sinners but savable by grace is the Christian view

Eliza Madrigal: I don't think that's the only christian view... but the loudest

Zen (zen.arado): we can only feel guilt in relation to others?

boxy (alfred.kelberry): cal, you always bring a theologic view :)

Liza Deischer: there is a series about slavery on CNN International; I guess 90 % of us will feel our conscious kicks in, but when we shop, we still want the best product for the best price..... so how extended is our conscience

Calvino Rabeni: This can't be reduced to simple rules .. I'd guess there are moral feelings arising out of pure delusion too, or out of hormonal states or brain damage, etc.

Zen (zen.arado): yeh Eliza
 Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Amen
 Zen (zen.arado): :)
 Mickorod Renard: well I am trying to do the right thing, but feel I am being left behind cos of my conscience
 Zen (zen.arado): ye must be born again
 Zen (zen.arado): they say
 Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Hallelujah
 Zen (zen.arado): I mustn't mock Calvino Rabeni: So I bring in theology as much as neurophilosophy, I'd say, so that they can mutually correct each other boxy (alfred.kelberry): praise the lord!
 Aggers (agatha.macbeth): No, naughty boy
 Eliza Madrigal: good point Liza... we make compromises all the time based on what we think our ability to choose otherwise is boxy (alfred.kelberry): :P
 Mickorod Renard: yea, I tried to stop child labour imports once
 Calvino Rabeni: Good point Eliza
 Zen (zen.arado): conscience isn't intellectual though - more of a feeling?
 Eliza Madrigal: 'most men lead lives of quiet desperation'
 Calvino Rabeni: No one I think, likes to torture themselves by taking on a personal or societal moral issue that feels intractable .. that could be a shifting line though,
 Zen (zen.arado): we sure do Eliza :(
 boxy (alfred.kelberry): mick, can you tell more on that?
 Zen (zen.arado): it's so tough for us
 Zen (zen.arado): the right thng is your conscience Mick?
 Mickorod Renard: well, maybe not
 Liza Deischer: /me mumbles, maybe our primal brain isn't made for global conscience
 Mickorod Renard: but we think it is Calvino Rabeni: On a more personal level ... how many of us I wonder, choose friends or a social network to help be more discerning, to use correct judgments, maybe be held "accountable" ... instead of seeking individual liberty from external judgments that seem oppressive to individual freedom .. ? There's a lot to be said for both practices.
 Calvino Rabeni: And I agree with Liza there
 Zen (zen.arado): yeh Eliza
 Zen (zen.arado): we are still little close tribes really
 Mickorod Renard: o maybe its ou idealistic opinion
 Zen (zen.arado): Liza I mean
 Eliza Madrigal: /me nods @ Cal re environment...
 Zen (zen.arado): we choose friends because they like what we do
 Zen (zen.arado): I think
 Gaya Ethaniel: A few minutes left ... shall we continue next week with forgiveness?
 Zen (zen.arado): not one's who disapprove
 Liza Deischer: yes Zen, and that's an interesting point Cal..... a kind of collective more focussed on the survival of the group conscience versus a more personal conscience, they can contradict each other.....
 Zen (zen.arado): suits me

Calvino Rabeni: I know I choose friends who can disagree with me where it's appropriate and help me learn .. within a range I can accept emotionally
Aggers (agatha.macbeth): /me nods
Eliza Madrigal: /me nods @ both
Eliza Madrigal: but I sort of let life choose my friends sometimes too
Eliza Madrigal: even when it makes no sense to me :)
Liza Deischer: forgiveness, yes sounds great after putting my conscience under a loop :)
Calvino Rabeni: I think forgiveness is a good topic, if it is balanced with conscience or accountability ..
Zen (zen.arado): /me thinks he should choose friends that way but.....
Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Loopy Liz :)
Eliza Madrigal: :) Zen... don't you have friends you've had forever that annoy you but you respect?
Gaya Ethaniel: Would be nice to hear more about that point Cal next week :)
Zen (zen.arado): yeh I guess,,,but made a mistake :)
Eliza Madrigal: :))
Eliza Madrigal: Okay... bye and thanks everyone
Gaya Ethaniel: Thanks everyone :)
Mickorod Renard: bye Eliza
Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Bye for now
Mickorod Renard: thanks All
Zen (zen.arado): thanks everyone
Eliza Madrigal: Oh! btw Cal... the soul comments you made last week re earth and sky... nice!
Liza Deischer: bye everyone that is going
Eliza Madrigal: thanks for that
Mickorod Renard: I need to slip away,,thankyou
Eliza Madrigal: /me waves
Zen (zen.arado): blanket bye
Liza Deischer: (I always need some time to get up)
Aggers (agatha.macbeth): Yea, let's call it a night
Aggers (agatha.macbeth): It's a night
Eliza Madrigal: :) Hugs Ags
Eliza Madrigal: Night it is